

120 - Dispute Resolution Policy

If you have a concern, please try to work with the person directly involved before contacting the principal. In most cases, a complaint or dispute can be resolved directly between the parties involved. Remember gossip is an infection that only grows when the problem is not faced with the person who is directly affected. It benefits no one and can create hurt and mistrust. Please remember to make an appointment with the teacher to discuss concerns. We ask that you do not interrupt class or talk to the teacher in passing. If the problem cannot be resolved between parties, parents or teachers should bring the issue to the principal for mediation. In extreme cases, when meeting with the principal has failed to resolve the concern, parents may want to bring their issue to the attention of the Board. To do so, a “Request to Address the Board” form must be completed and returned to the principal. Forms for this purpose are available at the front office. This form is due to the Board Secretary on the Friday preceding the week of the Board meeting.
